The recent fires in LA have taught us that any battery facility will create a toxic environment when there is a fire. Hazmat teams were the first on the scene for clean up and 5 months later the beaches are still unsafe for swimming. The weather systems are forecasting increased wind every year, increasing the threat of fire, forcing evacuations for undetermined lengths of time to all surrounding neighborhoods. The air quality concerns span ever farther than the immediate area surrounding the proposed plant. Please find another location much farther away from our densely populated Orange County.
