BATTERY STORAGE

Every time I think we've cleared our last hurdle, convinced the last person and now we can relax because everyone gets it: San Juan Capistrano is a very Historic, Quaint, Equestrian town and we are all on board to keep it that way. But here we are!

To the applicant, Engie North America LLC, if this was your historic, quaint, equestrian town which houses one of the very old, historic missions, would you want a facility like this greeting your residents and your guests as they enter town?? Would you risk your homes, your beautiful hills where you ride your treasured horses and your historic structures?? I think not. I urge you to find another place more suitable for this type of facility.

To Saddleback Church, you have been a part of this town for many years and surely at some point in time during those years, you have enjoyed or been a part of our functions including our historic parade and surely, at some point, you have looked up into those hills and marveled at the sight of horse and rider. Surely you cannot walk away without caring about this town and this land. I urge you not to sell this land for a battery storage facility.

To the California Energy Commission keep in mind the word CALIFORNIA! We are beautiful, protective of our treasures and proud of all that we have to offer. Please don't taint that beauty, those treasures, including our horses, and our hidden gem of a town, San Juan Capistrano.

I do not support this battery storage facility. I would much rather dot this land with open space, horses and riders and all that our California history has to offer.

With Respect,

Gail Fayad
