Opposition

As a resident of the City of Laguna Niguel, a retired United States Department Of Justice Fraud Investigator, and a strong environmental justice activist who serves as a volunteer for the State of California, I stand in complete opposition to this dangerous and reckless project. It is to be constructed literally next to a creek that runs to the ocean, next to railroad tracks in an area designated as a very high fire danger zone, and very close to existing residential communities, notably occupied by a significant percentage of minorities, none of whom will be employed either in temporary construction nor permanent technical jobs should this project be approved. It is an environmental disaster in the making, offering no reassurance whatsoever that it is safe as constructed, nor that its ownership is capable of rapidly responding to a fire, either wild or urban, to which it is particularly exposed considering the nature of the business. It should be denied outright.
