The California Energy Commission (CEC) will host a remote-access workshop to present draft guidelines for the Equitable Building Decarbonization (EBD) Tribal Direct Install Program. The CEC seeks input from the public on the draft guidelines.

The public can participate in the workshop consistent with the attendance instructions below. The CEC aims to begin promptly at the start time posted and the end time is an estimate based on the proposed agenda. The workshop may end sooner or later than the posted end time.

The CEC will hold additional outreach events with California Native American tribes in alignment with the CEC's government-to-government relationship in early October.

Agenda

Staff will provide an overview of the EBD Tribal Direct Install Program and present the draft guidelines. Topics will include program structure, proposed funding allocations, eligible measures, and program requirements. There will be opportunities for the public to ask questions and provide comments during the workshop.

Background

In September 2022, Governor Newsom signed Assembly Bill 209 (Committee on Budget, Chapter 251, Statutes of 2022), which directs the CEC to develop and implement a new EBD Program. The program includes two components: a statewide direct install program focused on low-income and moderate-income households, and an incentive program to accelerate deployment of low-carbon building technologies.

During the development of the Statewide Direct Install Program Guidelines, the CEC recognized the unique needs of tribes and tribal communities and set aside funds for a separately-administered Tribal Direct Install Program, to be developed through a public process, including consultation and engagement with tribes. Tribal members are eligible for the Statewide Direct Install Program in addition to the Tribal Direct Install Program. The CEC held tribal roundtables in Spring 2023 and Summer 2024 to receive input from California Native American tribes. The CEC also held public workshops in December 2022, May 2023, and June 2023 as part of the process for developing the EBD Program. The draft guidelines were developed based on input received at the workshops and roundtables and written comments to the docket, in addition to the program goals and requirements established by Assembly Bill 209.

Input Requested

The CEC seeks input on the Draft Equitable Building Decarbonization Tribal Direct Install Program Guidelines. Tribal stakeholders and the public are invited to provide written comment on the Draft Equitable Building Decarbonization Tribal Direct Install Program Guidelines, and any other topic related to the Equitable Building Decarbonization Program.

The proposed guidelines are available on the EBD Tribal Direct Install webpage at <https://www.energy.ca.gov/programs-and-topics/programs/equitable-building-decarbonization-program/ebd-tribal-direct-install>
