Keep our local hometowns safe

My family and friends have all said they don't want this giant battery storage in our area. I'm speaking on behalf of myself. I'm concerned for my health, and most importantly the land and surrounding environment here. Vacaville or surrounding towns, don't need this lithium-ion storage near agriculture land or near our homes. If these explode, which they will, it'll contaminate everything around, our soils, air quality with its toxic fumes. I do believe it's dangerous and reckless to have it at the proposed location it's too close to home, too close to everything. It's also too incredibly large at 40 acres proposed, that's far too much especially for this area! Please don't build it there, or here or anywhere near solano county. I don't want it. And neither do my family and friends.
