LA Alliance for a New Economy supports the construction of BESS

Hi, my name is Quinton Garrard and I'm a community organizer on the climate team for the Los Angeles Alliance for a New Economy. LAANE is an organizing and advocacy institution committed to economic, environmental, and racial justice. We support the construction of solar and wind energy projects and associated battery energy storage systems (BESS) that are completed using high road labor and environmental standards. These projects represent critical opportunities to advance our vision of a new economy rooted in thriving communities and a healthy environment for all Angelenos. Thank you.
