The California Energy Commission (CEC) will host a remote-access workshop to solicit comments on proposed data collection and analyses for the 2027 Integrated Energy Policy Report (2027 IEPR) relating to electricity resource plans.

The public can participate in the workshop consistent with the attendance instructions below. The CEC aims to begin promptly at the start time posted, and the end time is an estimate based on the proposed agenda. The workshop may end sooner or later than the posted end time.

Agenda

On May 20, 2026, CEC staff from the Energy Assessments Division will present proposed changes to electricity resource plan forms and instructions. Significant changes include removal of the S-2A Addendum Monthly form and more transparency for contracts with several resources, hybrid resources, and resources with fuel switching. All changes to the electricity resource plans will be explained during the workshop. The workshop will start with an introduction, followed by a presentation on the electricity resource plan forms and instructions. After the presentation, there will be time for public participant discussion and comments.

A detailed meeting schedule with draft forms and instructions will be posted prior to the workshop at 2026 IEPR Workshops, Notices, and Documents, <https://www.energy.ca.gov/data-reports/reports/integrated-energy-policy-report-iepr/2026-integrated-energy-policy-report/2026>.

Background

California Public Resources Code Section 25301 requires the CEC to prepare an IEPR every two years that includes assessments and forecasts of energy industry supply, production, transportation, delivery and distribution, demand, and prices. The CEC develops these assessments and forecasts of the state's electricity and pipeline gas markets, including statewide and regional electricity and gas demand. As part of the development process, the CEC incorporates factors leading to future demand growth, such as changes in economic activity, population growth, urban development, industrial expansion and energy intensity, growth in different building types, and energy and environmental policies.

The CEC is directed by California Public Resources Code Section 25301 to regularly assess all aspects of energy demand and supply to develop energy policies that conserve resources, protect the environment, ensure energy reliability, enhance the state's economy and protect public health and safety. These assessments are the foundation for analyses and policy recommendations to the Governor, Legislature, and other agencies. To carry out these assessments, "the commission may require submission of demand forecasts, resource plans, market assessments, and related outlooks from electric, natural gas utilities, transportation, fuel and technology suppliers, and other market participants" (California Public Resources Code Section 25301[a][2]).

Under the CEC's regulations, each load-serving entity (LSE) is required to submit a 10-year demand forecast according to forms and instructions adopted by the CEC. (Cal. Code Regs, tit. 20 § 1345). All LSEs are also required to submit 10-year resource plans according to forms and instructions adopted by the CEC. (Cal. Code Regs, tit. 20 § 1347), Cal. Code Regs, tit. 20 § 1350 provides an exemption from these filing requirements to small LSEs (those with a peak electricity demand of less than 200 MW in each of the last two calendar years preceding the filing) if those entities have provided the resource adequacy information identified in Cal. Code Regs, tit. 20 § 1346.

This information will provide a foundation for the analyses and recommendations in the 2027 IEPR including resource assessment and analysis of progress towards energy efficiency and renewable energy goals. The data will also be used to develop CEC forecasts, which are used in the California Public Utilities Commission procurement and resource adequacy proceedings, as well as in transmission planning studies conducted by the California Independent System Operator. This information will also provide the CEC with a better understanding of LSE planning assumptions and supply resource commitments, allowing the CEC to assess current conditions in electric generation reliability. Draft supply forms and instructions will be posted to the docket (26-IEPR-02) a few days prior to the workshop.
