Opposition to proposed data center in Inyokern CA

The Indian Wells Valley residents are vehemently opposed to the construction of a new data center in Inyokern CA. Our water basin can't support the extreme consumption that a data center would require. Residents don't want to deal with the noise a center produces. The center would consume massive amounts of power that the grid can't support. It would provide little economic benefit to the community. Its massive water consumption could very well destroy the ability for the water basin to sustain the community or NAWS China Lake, which is critical to national security.
