Docket number 24-OIR-03 - Energy Data Collection - Phase 3

Commissioners re: Docket 24-OIR-03,

I urge the California Energy Commission (CEC) to reject any unit-level sales tracking requirements. These proposed regulations would increase the cost of already expensive materials, placing an unnecessary financial burden on both businesses and consumers. This level of government involvement is excessive and creates additional administrative costs without providing sufficient benefit to justify the expense. Ultimately, these requirements could force many small businesses in the industry to close their doors, reducing competition, limiting consumer choice, and harming local economies. I encourage the CEC to pursue solutions that protect consumers while avoiding unnecessary regulations that disproportionately impact small businesses. Timothy Slayton
