docket 26-Tire-01

I'm not sure if the previous comment made it through so I'm going to send this one more time. The last time I sent my message it timed out.

I am in opposition to this legislation/rulemaking. It is unfair to the consumers of California to have to purchase inferior tires for their vehicles. This is making it harder for consumers to have a choice. The idea that Carmakers are actually worried about the most efficient tire is silly. They make contracts for the tires that they put on new vehicles many years in advance and it's not based specifically on rolling friction or efficiency. They have a specification and they asked several manufacturers to come up or use a tire already in stock and they contract on a cost basis. It really has nothing to do with being the "ideal" tire, eliminating choices for consumers is always a bad idea. It drives up costs, and makes life for the average voter worse. I am in opposition to this rule/legislation. Thank you.
