Looks like we dont have a docket number for the acceptance testing certification program. The applications should not use the rulemaking docket number. That could be confusing. At this point lets process the application and get the materials to staff. Tiffani I am out of the office today. Can you grab the application and confidential materials package from my office. The stuff is in an envelop sitting on a UPS bag on my desk. You can let Chris Olvera and Martha Brook know when you have processed the application so they can pick up copies of the CDs. As for a docket number why not use 13-ATTCP-01. Then we can stick all acceptance testing and training certification related documents into that docket. Thanks

Hi Jared,

I am unaware of a specific docket number for ATTCP provider applications. I am aware that the following docket number was used for the ATTCP rulemaking process: #12-BSTD-02. Should this number be used?

We received an application for confidentiality from NEMIC relating to becoming a certified provider. Is there docket number you are using for the Acceptance testing related submissions? We are trying to figure out how to categorize this application. Thanks
