Move the project

I see that the union is in favor of this project because they want the jobs. They can have the same jobs at Lambie with all the local support as well. These jobs are short term jobs with long term negative effects on the local community. Lambie is still closer than San Francisco, where the electricity is going. Short term thinking. Still shows that the only people that seem to support this project are the ones that will gain financially with no consideration for the residents around the project that will feel the financial losses—even when it's one of their own.
