The RB Inyokern Data Center has the potential to contribute to economic growth and create more job opportunities in our area. A project of this size can benefit many peopleâ€”not only the workers employed directly at the site, but also local contractors, skilled tradespeople, suppliers, small businesses, and other service providers throughout the community.

More employment and business activity can also generate additional tax revenue that supports local services, infrastructure, and the broader economy. Bringing new industries and investment into the area can help diversify our local economy and create a stronger foundation for long-term growth.

Projects that create opportunities for local workers and businesses can have an impact that extends well beyond the project itself. The RB Inyokern Data Center represents an opportunity to bring investment, jobs, and economic activity to the region while helping build a more diverse and sustainable economic future for our county.
