nuclear power

To: California Energy Commission

From: Ben Davis Jr., California Nuclear Initiative

Subject: 2015 IEPR Scoping Order 14-IEP1

In the Draft 2015 IEPR Scoping Order there is only reference to considering nuclear power in California's energy mix. It is stated:

Energy:

o Continuation of the analysis of Southern California electricity reliability due to loss of San Onofre Nuclear Generation Station and retirements of once-through cooling power plants. The analysis will continue to examine California's need for new electricity infrastructure (transmission and conventional power plants), preferred resources, and electricity contingency planning.

This limited analysis of nuclear power in California is not sufficient to fulfil the Commission's legal obligation to provide citizens, legislature and Governor of California an analytical foundation for regulatory and policy decision-making. The comments in this regard that were submitted in last year's IEPR Update proceeding are resubmitted in these proceedings to support this contention. The links to those comments are:
