It has been brought to my attention that there will be a workshop in Sacramento Thursday, September 27, 2012 to discuss the technical disciplines of the HECA project that is proposed for our area in Kern county. If this meeting is held in Sacramento, the California Energy Commission will not hear the full scope of concerns from the area affected by this project. Due to the long drive and the around-the-clock pistachio harvest that may last through mid October, many citizens from our community will be unable to attend this meeting. I would like to request that this and all future meetings be held in the community that will feel the affects of this project so that all of our concerns will be heard and considered. Please docket and post this comment.
