Mr. DuBose,

I am the attorney that represents PG&E. We met at the PreHearing Conference for the Eastshore Energy Center in Hayward California. You and I spoke after the meeting and I promised to send you what I could find concerning public information on the location of gas pipelines. I thought I had sent you an email with a link to the CEC website that contained a map available to the public concerning the gas pipelines. When I saw you at the evidentiary hearing I asked you if you had received the information I sent. When you replied that you had not, I went back to see what happened. I am not sure what happened as I could not find a record of the email in my sent email folder, which I routinely delete. So I either forgot to send you the email I may have used the wrong email address. In either case, I apologize. I am sending you a link to the CEC website which contains maps of pipelines in California including PG&E service territory. Please respond to this email or call me if I can assist with anything else. As you may be aware, the evidentiary hearings for Eastshore were not concluded this week and they will reconvene on January 14th so if the information is necessary for your public comment on the project, there is another opportunity for you to speak.

Again, my apologies.
