Subject: CEC record-Docket #11-AFC-03 Quail Brush Power Generation Siting Case.

Dear whom it may concern,

I am disturbed to hear about the plans to build a power plant next to, basically on mission trails park. As a regular visitor of this park by myself and with my family I have enjoyed the peace and tranquility and escape to nature from downtown San Diego it provides. It is a beautiful park and should be protected from industrial projects such as a power plants.

Building a power generation plant right next one of the largest public use parks in San Diego as well as right across the street from a High School where our children are trying to learn in a safe healthy environment is a very bad idea! I appose this plan as a resident, a parent, and a voter in San Diego. A proposed power plant like this should be built in an already industrial area that already has industrial buildings, noise and pollutants. We have our parks for a reason, to escape to nature for peace and solitude, for safe healthy places to take our children to play. Wilderness is important to human beings, to their health, their mental health, their psychological health, to their sense of meaning in life and places like Mission Trails provide this wilderness opportunity to San Diego.

They are already building a power link through Cleveland National Forest, now they want a Power Plant at Mission Trails. Please lets protect our parks, our places for public use and keep our schools safe. Lets not let San Diego lose the minimal wilderness it already has that has been set aside for the public. If not for us, for our future generations and for our kids. Once they are gone and built on, we can not get this precious land beck. Lets let our kids learn in a peaceful environment in a visually stimulating area away from extra noise, pollutants and a massive industrial building. Our schools are already having a difficult enough time with budget cuts. It is time our politicians and residents step up and protect our children's futures.
