ween society of natural gas

With time and age I have become more sensitive to pollutants, personally conscious and aware of climate change, and decry the estrangement from our natural world. We all have to find a better way of accommodating 10 billion people than depleting natural resources. We all have to do our part and find a new way. I am doing mine personally, and in business, and I am proud and supportive of California State leading the way. Please seek a new future without consuming natural gas for the momentary (in evolutionary time) gratification humans and industry.
