2018 IEPR update

I support the goals of the update to the 2018 IEPR, and think that electrification of buildings will greatly help us in eventually reaching a goal of zero-emission buildings.

I hope that these recommendations can be acted on quickly, especially in areas where children, the elderly, the sick, and other sensitive groups are most likely to suffer from the effects of air pollution and climate change.

Freeing us from a dependence on natural gas is also likely to result in greater public safety, and lessen the risk of explosions and fires from ruptured and leaking gas lines.

In summary, I support electrification of buildings as outlined in the update to the 2018 IEPR, and request that no changes be made to the report.

Sincerely,
Gregory Rolin
