Nuclear Power Is Essential

To not promote nuclear power in 2019 is to be on the wrong side of history. To not promote nuclear power as the only real remedy to the crisis of global warming is condemning my young daughters to lives of misery, and perhaps lives of trauma. We live in a time of crippling political polarity. Opposing sides assign colors and labels to every belief, without ever measuring or considering nuance. Everything has to be black or white. Concerned people who just 'do the homework' know that nuclear power is the only realistic way to control atmospheric carbon. We need bold "Heroes of Science" (and Engineering) to make the case for embracing nuclear power and understanding its benefits. The science is there, the numbers are there. We need bold men and women to do the right thing - now.
