Integrated Energy Policy Report

The Final 2018 Integrated Energy Policy Report has it right with regard to building electrification. California needs to urgently phase-out natural gas usage; electrification is the most viable path to zero-emission buildings. The public supports acceleration of decarbonization. The Commission should not allow fossil fuel interests to water down the goals of IEPR. CEC should pursue the IEPR electrification goals, while also ensuring that the most vulnerable and disadvantaged communities will not be neglected as our buildings are upgraded.
