2018 IEPR Update

I'm happy to see the focus on building electrification in the Final 2018 IEPR update. We need to get to a zero-emission economy, and buildings are an important part of that. Gas burned in the home (or any other building) will never be zero-emission, so it's important that we move to electrify our buildings as quickly as possible. I hope the Commission will pursue the electrification goals in the IEPR in a way that does this expediently, and I request that you make no changes to the Final 2018 IEPR update - I'm quite happy with it.
