Opposition to Rebuild the Redonod Beach Power Plant

Ms. Kelly,

I was told you needed to hear from Redondo residents that are opposed to rebuilding the Redondo Beach power station. I am one of them. I live less than 1 mile from the location and the biggest issue is the amount of particulates that will end up in the air once the new power station is up and running. Currently the duty cycle of the plant is not that heavy so the actual amount of pollution is very heavy when used but overall not too bad. Since the new plant will be used more often than the current plant we end up with more pollution even though it is a cleaner burning plant. I also don't believe that there is a real need to rebuild this plant in such prime real estate. This is our water front and should not house a power plant. I am really opposed to this rebuilding of the AES Plant in Redondo so is my wife and daughter (13 yrs) who has been picketing with us each time there is an organized rally. Please consider that there may not be a need for this particular plant in Redondo Beach since there are several others coming on line in the next 10 years or so near by.

Sincerely,

Richard C. Banz
