On August 23, 2019, the California Energy Commission published a Revised Notice of Proposed Action (NOPA) informing stakeholders of proposed amendments to the California Appliance Efficiency Regulations for general service lamps (GSLs). The revised NOPA identified October 8, 2019, as the date of the public hearing on the proposed regulations.

The public hearing has been postponed and will not be held on October 8, 2019. A new date will be announced in a future communication.

Public comments on the proposed regulatory language remain due on or prior to October 7, 2019. Further, proposed regulations for GSLs will not be considered for possible adoption at the Commission's October 14, 2019, business meeting.
