Electrification

I am opposed to the elimination of natural gas as a fuel source for my home. Many years ago I purchased a solar system for my home and have been extremely pleased with it. Recently we had red flag warnings in our service area. When Edison shuts down the grid my solar panels are still generating electricity but I can't utilize the power due to the interconnect safety feature and the house goes dark. Thankfully I still have hot water and a cooking fuel. A single energy source is a ridiculous concept brought about by folks who really have not put much thought into the problem.
