Support the right for REACH codes

Dear Commissioners, the climate crisis is upon us - it's obvious, it's proven tremendously traumatic and expensive for Californians already, and we're just getting started. We have a chance to support a global shift to solar, all-electric passive buildings, and we have to do it fast. That is why it is crucial that the CEC does not stand in the way of jurisdictions who are adopting REACH codes that remove barriers to or that require new solar all-electric buildings. With these REACH codes, cities are leading the way to a healthier, more affordable, and more resilient future - the technology is available, it's affordable, and the benefits have been demonstrated. The time to act is now - we urge you to approve these REACH codes and to adopt state policies that build upon them to rapidly decarbonize all California buildings.
