California, reach beyond your borders

This experiment in Hydrogen fuel in California has been fascinating to watch. The growth and development have been a modern wonder to behold. It is unfortunate that the individuals who have bought into the future are stuck inside the state of California. In order for the Hydrogen Economy to really blossom the fuel cell alliance need to reach out beyond the borders of California. They need to initiate H2 stations on the road to places like Las Vegas, Phoenix, Salt Lake City and Portland. In these areas there are people just waiting for H2 to come to them. When you do this then you will see H2 really take off.
