Public Disapproval of new energy plat

I wish to go on record that my family does not want a new power plant in Redondo Beach. We have young children and live down wind of the site and will suffer from poor air quality, along with all of the other children and people in our part of the neighborhood. We do not believe a new power plant is needed here, that in the long term there are other power generation and alternative energy options. We also do not want a new power plant because it really ruins what would be an otherwise gorgeous view of the ocean and the South Bay coast.

Sincerely,

David Mickler
