FINAL STATEMENT OF REASONS

Computers and Computer Monitors
Z # 2020-0922-02

UPDATE OF THE INITIAL STATEMENT OF REASONS

In response to a public comment received the California Energy Commission made a non-substantive change to Table X in Section 1606 related to computers with cyclical behavior.

The reporting of the test duration was changed from seconds to hours:minutes:seconds as requiring reporting of a vast number of seconds is not practical. This change is deemed non-substantive because it only changes the units measurements of time are reported in.

The acronym for MRR was defined in Table V-5 as the maximum refresh rate in Hertz to ensure that the terms used within regulations will have clear and unambiguous meaning to readers, including the public, and particularly to the persons and organizations affected by the regulations.

LOCAL MANDATE DETERMINATION

The California Energy Commission has determined that this action will not result in a local mandate on local agencies or school districts.

CONSIDERATION OF ALTERNATIVE PROPOSALS

The Energy Commission determined pursuant to Government Code Section 11346.9(a)(4) that no alternative before it would be more effective in carrying out the purpose for which this action is proposed no alternative would be as effective as and less burdensome to affected persons than the adoption of the proposed regulation; or would be more cost effective to affected private persons and equally effective in implementing the statutory policy or other provision of law.

Except as discussed in the summary and response to comments, no alternatives were recommended.

INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE

No documents are proposed to be incorporated by reference.

SUMMARY OF RESPONSES TO PUBLIC COMMENTS RECEIVED

All responses to public comments, including acceptance of recommendations and justification when recommendations were not accepted, are attached to this Final Statement of Reasons, and included in the rulemaking file.
