The California Energy Commission (CEC) will host a workshop to discuss three aspects of the energy demand analysis for the 2021 Integrated Energy Policy Report (2021 IEPR). The workshop will address two components of the 2021 California Energy Demand Forecast: the annual electricity and gas forecasts and the hourly and peak electricity demand forecasts. The workshop will also address the Senate Bill 350 (De León, Chapter 547, Statutes of 2015) energy efficiency analysis results. Commissioner J. Andrew McAllister is CEC's Lead Commissioner for the 2021 IEPR and Vice Chair Siva Gunda is the lead for the analysis of energy demand for the 2021 IEPR proceeding. A quorum of commissioners may participate, but no votes will be taken.

The workshop will be held remotely, consistent with Assembly Bill 361 (Rivas, Chapter 165, Statutes of 2021) to improve and enhance public access to state agency meetings during the COVID-19 pandemic by allowing broader access through teleconferencing options. The public can participate in the workshop consistent with the direction provided below. The CEC aims to begin promptly at the start time and the end time is an estimate based on the agenda proposed. The workshop may end sooner or later depending on various factors.

Agenda

As a continuation from the December 2, 2021, workshop on the 2021 California Energy Demand Forecast, staff will present the results of the annual electricity and gas forecasts, and the hourly and peak electricity demand forecasts. Also, staff will present an updated analysis on the Senate Bill 350 goal of doubling energy efficiency by 2030.

A detailed meeting schedule will be posted prior to the workshop at the 2021 IEPR Workshops, Notices and Documents webpage found at <https://www.energy.ca.gov/data-reports/reports/integrated-energy-policy-report/2021-integratedenergy-policy-report/2021-iepr>.

Background

The CEC develops and adopts forecasts of electricity demand every two years as part of the IEPR process. These forecasts are used in various proceedings including the California Public Utilities Commission's integrated resource planning, distribution resource planning, and resource adequacy proceedings, as well as the California Independent System Operator's transmission planning. Staff presented the transportation energy demand forecast and the additional achievable energy efficiency and fuel substitution components of the forecast at the December 2, 2021 workshop. At this workshop, staff will present the results of the annual electricity and gas demand forecasts and the hourly and peak demand forecast components of the 2021 California Energy Demand Forecast.

SB 350 requires that the CEC track progress toward the legislation's goal of doubling energy efficiency by 2030 relative to 2015. Staff will present its most recent analysis including the historic savings measured relative to 2015, projected savings out to 2030, and the potential contributions of fuel substitution towards meeting the goal.
