A fresh approach is needed to include communities of color and disadvantaged communities in the Zero-Carbon housing solutions

Often the poor are left out of low income housing that includes Zero-Carbon technology and design. Given the urgency of the climate crisis, it is critical that we are funding innovative solutions to meet the growing need for affordable, carbon-free, multi-use housing community in San Diego communities that do not have access to Zero-Carbon living. Please support C4GS in Reimagining Affordable Mixed-Use Development in a Carbon-Constrained Future! This group have gathered an impressive group of engineers, designers, community partners, and low-income residents to bring Zero-Carbon housing to communities lacking access.
