Keep Diablo Power Plant Open

I grew up in California and lived there for 28 years before moving to Minnesota in 2014 for veterinary school. I was saddened to hear about the closure of the San Onofre plant in 2013 before I left. I drove past it often.

Diablo Canyon is an important source of clean electricity, and could be one of the most important sources of water if used for desalination. Keeping it open and running are of critical importance. It's honestly crazy to even think about closing a reliable source of clean energy given the current climate crisis. Keep Diablo open!!
