Hello and best regards for all the minds that have spent time on this topic. I will start with the Einstein/ Oppenheimer debate of every topic that seems never to agree upon but one thing they did say was the split of atoms is not a good idea. An so yes i feel that any and all movement placement or bringing what nature has dispersed as aboutly possible to keep such great obvious potential to be at rest is the best rulee of thumb once we have tred so far upon to unleashing this force to be dwestruction of life in any form. lets all say science must in agrievence of all such practices which change a settled composition to at calmness for the wellness of the whole matter which we are made be the best fit for outcome of life has taken what can believe to be billions of years radiating culminating to such that a x factor that being aware and consciousness must find awaringly toxic then what are to just trust and garner the rela reactor that produces 1000 thousand safe watts per square meter upon the surface of the everyday its ihabinatants not only to just gather a non harmful elment phot voltaic crystals what i willnot do is disrespect and abuse the erth with atomic materthat is can be brought together by one intelligience and be so harmful that same inteeligiience will wste time and energy to keep from being harmful a bunch more toxic syntheyteic substance thtwill only degrade beyond the purpose forwhich itis being to produce les than the energy shinning down upon our iteklligents heads well and harm fre watts of energy to simple place a form eatrh born crystalization a perfect machine that merely placed within the biggesst nuclear reactor our sun is the pro generatorof all matter that give fuel substance life and this tampering with what bores religioisly like the elemental 1 to 2 and so on the the atomic scale unfolds as oif we need such energy when 80% of the 20% need to be perfect thier reactor within which produce heat for our warmth imagination to entain the ability to be a steward an only purpose is to greee and allow fairness between allprocreated to symbiotic relationships its the understanding weighs the manufacturing a synthetic to what creratre a sensre of purchase when for a million years its was only the need to huddle togetherkeeping eachother from love and comfort that reactor the heart within pumping til the dawn awaken us with its warmth the rays of atomic death if were not for mother earth intelligence. esteem colleuges it is but now become a waste upon my time on eenrgy of obvious answer is to stop drop cover really put the stuff back whwere it needs to be gerat idea but we have a better solution than building monstorus contanments and containment handling equiment facility containmeng for whtat or power up micro toxic wave some dodger dogs
