Central Coast Job Growth

Hello,

My name is Scott Zimmerman a local representative of the Southwest Mountain States Regional Council of Carpenters. I personally reside in Santa Maria, CA which is a short forty-minute drive away from Morro Bay and where this great opportunity for our area will be set in place. The opportunity I'm speaking of is putting local area residents to work in the trades industry and more specifically the "Carpenters" craft work. This area is underserved and desperately in need of more job growth that is career focused and can be obtained with no debt. Traditional schooling through a four-year institution such as Cal Poly is a great avenue for some but there are others who perform better and are successful with a hands-on application career. Being a member of a trade union has been nothing short of success story in my life and so many other Carpenter members I've had the pleasure to work with and now represent in the local area. We have five hundred local skilled and trained journeyman and apprentices in the northern Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties that can perform the tasks required to make the OSW in Morro Bay a success for all parties involved. This will create ample opportunity for more local area residents to come into a training program that is designed to teach them the skills necessary for success in the construction industry. The "Carpenters Union" holds training to the highest standard and is a top priority. Countless resources are invested into our training program to ensure it is second to none, and when specialty training is needed for specific applications, we are always ready for the challenge. Access to this highly rated and professional training will be readily available just minutes away from the OSW leases and support infrastructure work.

Thank you,
