To Whom it May Concern,

It has been brought to my attention of the proposal for dismissing Hers testing. This is an absolute shock. I feel that we are reassuring homeowners that their install is up to state standards. Not only do we train for this specific need, we also have out time and thousands of dollars invested into this program. I feel this would be a step backwards for our community and our energy conservation, that we have worked so hard for in our State of California.

Thank you for your understanding,
Jason Solarez
