RE: Power Source Disclosure

Notice of Availability and Request for Comments on the Rulemaking to Amend Regulations Governing the Power Source Disclosure Program

California Energy Commission (CEC) staff is requesting comments on a revised version of the Power Source Disclosure (PSD) draft regulations. The revised draft regulations, along with a summary of changes and frequently asked questions, are available from Docket No. 21-OIR-01 at <https://efiling.energy.ca.gov/Lists/DocketLog.aspx?docketnumber=21-OIR-01>.

Background

CEC staff plans to initiate a rulemaking to amend the PSD program regulations per new legislation. Senate Bill 1158 (Becker, Chapter 367, Statutes of 2022) requires the reporting of hourly data to the CEC starting in 2028, while Assembly Bill 242 (Holden, Chapter 228, Statutes of 2021) establishes annual deadlines for retail electricity suppliers to post and distribute their power content labels. CEC staff released draft regulations, a draft hourly reporting template, and a staff proposal paper in advance of a pre-rulemaking workshop held on September 26, 2023. Discussion items at the workshop included hourly accounting implementation, proposed updates to annual accounting and the power content label, data submission updates, and related changes to regulatory language. Written comments submitted in October 2023 have led to revisions of the proposed text for the PSD rulemaking.
