Protecting EV charging for Californian families and professionals

Come on, folks: "Climate change" is rapidly morphing into "Climate collapse," and it won't look, feel or smell pretty. Having adequate EV charging stations for a leading state like CA. is crucial: we role model person by person abilities to make a dent in the deteriorating environment -- land, water and air - -when we in turn collectively support such pioneers. Don't make it hard and discourage folks from doing the right thing by changing over to electric from I.C.E. vehicles -- apportion statewide funds into expanding this trend in a constructive, exemplary way.
