keep current levels for electric vehicle adoption

now is not the time to reduce support for adoption of e-vehicles. we need to support the public's transition now more than ever. the US is currently heating up this week and yet you are thinking of making cuts. Let's be forward thinking and voting as you decide how you want the American public to travel around. Do we want more carbon and methane released into our environment? IWe want to leave our children, grandchildren, and their children a cleaner environment than we have enjoyed. Retain the current levels of funding for EV adoption. Increase the amount of monies spent to support this critical transition.
