EV charging infrastructure

To whom it may concern,

The United States of America is the laughing stock of the world when it comes to the adoption of electrification of transportation. The US is far behind China, Europe and many other countries around the world.

The California Energy Commission is only making things worse by considering reducing funding for EV charging. Your ignorance regarding this crucial matter regarding the need for increased building of EV charging infrastructure is bordering on criminal abdication of duty. Just pathetic.

Yours,

Abrasha Staszewski
