against battery site proposal

I have lived in Laguna Niguel 23 years now. I bought my house here to enjoy the weather, away from fault lines, a place that protects and appreciates nature and the wellbeing of the environment. We even have signs that say well tickers loud exhausts. Now the mere thought of placing a storage/ disposing area for potential toxic fumes is unheard of. Our creeks and oceans will be affected. I would have thought horses or wildlife in that open space not a storage for batteries. Have they lost their mind in San Juan. What if there's a fire?? No way.

That kind of storage needs to be in the middle of nowhere, or Barstow, Hemet, in an area where we don't have parks schools' houses surrounding. This will disrupt our beautiful South OC image as well. No one will want to buy a property near a threat and safety hazard. Find a new location please.
