Project Will Cause High Substantial Adverse Change

This project came to the Solano County Historical Society's attention today by a concerned citizen. A cursory review shows it to be incomplete and lacking in substantive information for the deciding body to make an informed decision in the best interest of the public. There is an adjacent historic property that was built by renowned architect George Sharp for a widowed woman, Catherine Kilkenny, for whom the road is named. She made her way in a man's world by raising cattle (all the while raising a large family). Her story and the pristine historic property represent a specific period of history and highlight the achievements of the underrepresented history of women. This project will cause substantial adverse change to prime agricultural land, the historic Kilkenny property, and the health and welfare of persons living adjacent to the project. This site is not suitable for a project of this magnitude.
