Oppose lithium battery storage

Hello, I am writing to oppose the lithium battery storage facility that is being considered in San Juan Capistrano. The proposed location is close to schools and homes and poses a large risk for wildfires. Time and time again these facilities are part of massive fires that burn far hotter than a natural wildfire and are difficult to put out causing massive losses. After the recent tragedies in Los Angeles, it would be irresponsible to put one of these facilities anywhere in proximity to a city. If these storage facilities are necessary they should be placed far away from structures and cities such as out in the desert.
