No Power Plant in Redondo Beach

I live about half a mile east of the current powerplant. It is horrible. I have three small children and am concerned about what we are all inhaling. In fact, one has respiratory issues. I can't see how a powerplant in such a densely populated area can be safe. When it runs items in my yard become coated with a film. If the new power plant is permitted, I feel like I will have to leave a home I love. The power plant has not been needed in the past so why permit a new one to be built on this location.
