HECA SUPPORT

To whom it may concern;

I earnestly believe that HECA will not make Kern County's pollution worse. As a community, we have worked hard to reduce air emissions over the past few years, which is absolutely something to be proud of. There is no way that the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution and Control District would determine that the HECA project is compliant with state and federal air quality standards if it was not. California has some of the strictest air quality standards in the nation. Our local air pollution control district has conducted their studies and determined that there will be no significantly negative effects on health for the people living near the proposed plant. I'm glad to take part in this democratic process. Part of the democratic process involves all the testing that the air pollution and control district has already done. They know what they're doing and have helped reduce our bad air quality already. Please permit this project, Kern County needs this project! Thank you.
