AES Power Plant noise in the middle of the night

I live across from RUHS within earshot of the AES Power Plant and was awoken and unable to sleep last night or early this morning due to its noise level. I'm not sure what time it started or ended, but I heard it from around midnight until around 1am Saturday morning 11/16/13. At first I didn't recognize it as coming from AES, but when I saw that someone had complained about AES at that hour, I realized they were releasing steam again but had somehow lowered the volume from their usual extremely loud level. It was still too loud and I was unable to sleep until it stopped.
