Quail Brush Power Plant

I am completely opposed to the Quail Brush Power Plant as myself, friends, and family live here and are smart enough to know that any power plant placed near a residential population can have a severe affect on the health of the people living nearby. It will also affect the animal and plants near Mission Trails, and add to the noise pollution in the area. There are many other, more logical places to build an additional power plant, but next to a populated area is not one of them. Most people in Santee oppose this project, and it is sad that it seems we are not able to vote on it. This is our home and so many have said that if San Diego forces this on us, they will move out of the county, if not the state. What ever happened to doing what is best "for the people". I hope you all use a great deal of common sense and truly care for the people of San Diego County by opposing this project.

Respectfully,
Stephanie Rosca
