AES Plant in Redondo Beach, CA

Myself and many others are requesting that you bring the question of renewing the AES plant in Redondo Beach CA to a conclusion ASAP. There is a contentious conflict over the land that could be opened up for development if the plant is closed. We, the citizens of Redondo Beach, are being asked to decide on an initiative concerning the use of the land without knowing if it is going to be available or not. AES is telling us they will not build another smaller plant IF we vote to allow them complete control of the land without city input or the ability of the City Council to make changes through CUP's for 10 years. Before we vote it must be known to voters if there is even the possibility of a new smaller plant. Please if there is any way to resolve this matter and announce the results publicly before our election in March 2015.

I don't know if I have the right to ask this of you but some how you, the the Energy Commission, must be informed of the upheavial this lack of facts is doing to our community. Thank you for you attention to this matter.
