Weisenmiller is the Lead Commissioner for Electricity and Natural Gas. Other Commissioners from the Energy Commission and the California Public Utilities Commission may also attend and participate in the workshop. This workshop was originally scheduled for June 8, 2015 and has been rescheduled as follows:

Background

Energy Commission staff has developed 10-year forecasts of electricity consumption and peak demand for each major utility planning area within California. These forecasts will be published in a staff report prior to the workshop. To provide the Energy Commission and the public with an opportunity to consider alternative perspectives on demand trends, the Energy Commission requested electricity demand forecasts and related information from all load-serving entities

(LSEs) with peak loads greater than 200 megawatts. LSEs submitted these forecasts to the Energy Commission in April, which will serve as a point of comparison to the preliminary staff forecast.

Following this workshop, staff will consider stakeholder comments along with direction from the Lead Commissioners for the IEPR and Electricity and Natural Gas to develop a set of revised forecasts for use in a variety of energy policy and planning activities, notably the 2015 IEPR.

Parties who wish to propose alternative forecasts or question the assumptions and methods used by Energy Commission demand modelers should view this workshop as an opportunity to contribute to the record on this proceeding.

Agenda

Staff from the Energy Commission and LSEs will present and discuss their respective 10-year forecasts of electricity consumption and peak demand. Staff will also present details regarding treatment of energy efficiency, self-generation, electricity rates, electrification, and climate change impacts on demand.

Presentations will cover the preliminary forecast and methods, including a new geographic scheme for the forecast, distributed generation impacts, electricity rate scenarios, and individual utility forecasts.

Public Comment

Oral Comments: Staff will accept oral comments during the workshop. Public comments may be limited to three minutes per speaker. Any comments will become part of the public record in this proceeding.

Written Comments: Written comments should be submitted by 4:00 p.m. on July 21, 2015. All written comments will become part of the public record of this proceeding.
