Exception Methods

It will never be posisble to model every brand new system type or building feature, so the alternative path of editing a IDFfile is a great solution. However, the documentation and methodology for doing this and uploading the new model into CBECC-Com isn't clear. It would be laragely beneficial if, at the very least, an explanatory document was included, or, even better, a "Upload edited Proposed IDF File" button was included.

Thanks,
Ben
