Group 4: Open-Source Web Browser User Interface for Gridlab-D

Many modern user interfaces leverage web browsers that support desktop and mobile platforms. For this Group 4, a web browser User Interface can be far more effective in increasing adoption via easier and better accessibility, while also enabling collaboration amongst researchers, industry, and government.

Suggestion:

Consider a modern web environment User Interface that democratizes access, increases collaboration and data portability, and enables a broader class of users to benefit from the latest advances in CPUC supported open-source modeling and analytics research.
